In "Destiny," the first piece from YUROZ' "Dreams" series, these lovers consider the possibilities of romantic union. She looks up at him, her eyes longing, and offers her rich, sweet pomegranates — the ripe fruit of her soul. She is ready. He sits with his chin in his hand, dreamy and wistful, and wonders what a future with her might bring. Soon he will accept these fruits from her, and together they will share their thoughts, their hopes, and their dreams... forever.
